Databases

Library Databases and Resources

Most Used Databases:

EBSCOhost offering full-text access to articles in all subject areas. EBSCOhost is the primary tool we use to support student learning. A guide to using it can be found at EBSCOHost Guide.

Faulkner FACCTS is a complete computer and communications information source. Guide to using this database can be found at Using Faulkner Faccts.

Library Catalog lists books, videos and other materials in the DeVry Library System. You can limit your search to a specific campus or access all of the DeVry campuses. Search by subject, title, author or keyword. Here is a guide on How to Order a Book from Another DeVry University Campus.

NetLibrary eBooks provides access to the DeVry collection of thousands of electronic books on a wide variety of topics, and in a wide variety of disciplines. There is a guide on How to Use Netlibrary.

Safari Books Safari is an eBook library for programmers and IT professionals with a broad range of technical books on such topics as programming, certification, networking, e-commerce, graphics, hardware, and more. There is also a guide to Using Safari Books.

There are more databases available at the national library page as well as tutorials on using library tools.
